PRICE FIVE CENTS

Early Repayment Of Savings Tax

By Dick Jackson

OTTAWA, May 14 — A start is currently being made on plans by the revenue and finance departments. The Bulletin today was informed, for repayment before next March 1, of $55,000,000 in compulsory savings to 1,300,000 taxpayers.

A special section is being set up in the revenue department to handle the cheques which will average out to about $30 each, representing the first instalment on the refunding of these savings collected through income tax in 1942.

It will be the largest single distribution of cheques ever made from Ottawa, and payments will be mailed in time for all taxpayers to get them "on or before" next March 31.

IN THE SAME MAILS will come an additional $1,000,000 in refundable excess profits tax.

Although the planning and establishing of the special section in the revenue department is currently underway, the actual preparation of the refund cheques will not start until next October.

The department requires a full six months in preparing the cheques, since their distribution will present many problems, including the tracing of new addresses of thousands of taxpayers who have moved since the compulsory savings were collected five years ago.

AN EFFORT to simplify this operation, the department later will issue instructions to taxpayers on how to file notification of changes in address.

Payments on the refunds of compulsory savings for 1943 and 1944, are by law, due not later than one and two years respectively after the first instalment.

HOWEVER, THERE is the possibility that if conditions warrant it, the $207,000,000 due on refundable excess profits tax may be made in 1948 or '49.

Swim Articles Start Friday

Learn to swim. More and more knowing how to swim is a "must" for both grown-ups and children. This year more Albertans are taking advantage of organized group instruction than ever before. But children are frightened out of the water for fear of group teaching methods.

To serve these groups and individuals in both city and country, Fred McMorris, Vancouver's famous lifesaver, swimming instructor and coach, will commence in The Edmonton Bulletin on Friday a course in swimming.

Watch for the first lesson in the course—in Friday's Bulletin. Cut it out and each of the succeeding lessons, so that you may have in the assembled clippings a complete course of swimming lessons for useful study.

Jews Crossing Alpine Frontier

BRENNER PASS, Italy, May 14 (AP).—Jews of Central Europe are moving secretly once more without passports across the Alpine frontier between Austria and Italy, hoping to find ports from which to sail for Palestine.

The arrival of 72 of them, without identification or permits, in the French zone of Austria heralded last week the large-scale resumption of their migration, stifled during the winter by low temperatures and deep snows in the Alpine passes.

Some, however, had been intercepted in the most bitter winter struggling toward the warm land across the Mediterranean.

French security officers at Innsbruck expressed belief that an infiltrated agent, international body is directing the movement of Jews into Italy. They estimated that 400 to 500 Italian frontier each week, entering the French zone from the United States.

The French were understood to have complained about American "negligence" after a group of 512 Polish Czech and Romanian Jews suddenly confronted two Austrian border police May 12 at the Gerlos Pass.

Situation Reported Now More Tense

From AP and BCP Dispatches

LONDON, May 14. — Hungry Germans faced with a steadily worsening food crisis and the possibility of still further cuts in their meager rations, were reported today to be giving way to an "ugly mood of bitter resentment" and fear was expressed that even more serious trouble, unless the United States speeds grain shipments to Germany.

Foreign Secretary Bevin and his topmost advisers met in secret for two hours today on the emergency, but it was reported that Bevin might be discussed by the cabinet, presumably at its weekly meeting tomorrow.

A foreign office spokesman described the outlook as "gloomy and difficult," but said that certain recommendations decided on at the secret meeting would be discussed by the cabinet, presumably at its weekly meeting tomorrow.

Meanwhile, an official cut of 200 to 250 calories soon in the basic German ration of 1,200 calories in the combined British-American ration was not considered as being virtually certain. If the cut is made, the German ration will be 1,000 calories, not considered as being virtually certain. He said he had heard reports of a "gloomy and difficult" situation in Germany, but that certain recommendations decided on at the secret meeting would be discussed by the cabinet, presumably at its weekly meeting tomorrow.

Churchill's appeal was part of a plea for a United States of Europe, which he denied is directed against Soviet Russia.

In a speech to a "United Europe" meeting at the Hotel Ritz, Mr. Churchill said that the prime minister declared: "It is, of course, alleged that all adverse action is being taken against Europe is nothing but a manoeuvre in the game of power politics. It is not a sinister plot against Soviet Russia. There is no truth in this."

Food Crisis

The Communist party is attempting to develop strikes in the United States occupation zone.

The United States military governor said he had no definite confirmation of the reports, but he told a press conference: "If any political activity attempts to capitalize upon the serious food situation, and if he is caught, he will be put behind bars."

BRITISH AUTHORITIES resupplied their blackout on official news of the Ruhr's worst and longest food crisis.

British and American correspondents were flatly refused any news of the situation by official spokesmen in both Berlin and Düsseldorf.

Lord Pakenham, minister responsible for affairs of the occupied territory, labelled the plight of Germans in Britain's zone "appalling."

Demonstrations in the British zone spread to the German zone, and there were reports from both London and Germany of urgent pleas to the United States for speedy grain and food shipments.

MILITARY GOVERNMENT of the zone feared a collapse of the national economic structure unless some improvement in the food situation is made. The Germans are hungry and increasingly restless.

German health officials in Frankfurt painted an especially grim picture. They claimed that the average German was dying of starvation and was actually getting thinner day by day.

A German official in Frankfurt asserted, "Germans are eating less than we fed prisoners of war and slave workers in Frankfurt during the war."

He estimated that 50 per cent of the people in Frankfurt have tuberculosis.

New demonstrations were planned today in the British zone, largely an industrial area and consequently particularly hard hit.

A one-hour sit-down strike was staged in Lauenburg, where the German army in the north surrendered to Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

AN OFFICIAL SOVIET spokesman in Berlin said that the ration was being met in the Soviet occupation zone, no cut had been made and there was no prospect of trouble.

Travellers arriving from the Soviet zone said food conditions were far from good there but food was available in restricted quantities.

American investigators predicted that increased criticism of the Russian military government could be expected.

The new German attitude, summed up recently in the still-undisputed statement of the German Minister of Pulp.

"The words of the Lord's prayer, 'Give us this day our daily bread' for the first time hold real meaning for the German people."

Thomas Hugh Buchanan, Edmonton, before he was a graduate, lost his job when the company he worked for was closed, received first class standing and a university honor.

PHYLIS BUCHANAN, Toronto, graduating in household economics, won the Prevey gold medal in her class in 1945.

She also obtained first class standing and a university honor in 1946, in addition to her standing in 1945.

William Douglas Baines, Edmonton, has a brilliant record in the agricultural field. Five awards of the Alberta Branch of the Agricultural Institute of Canada gold medal.

He has won first class standing with university honors for four straight years, obtaining his stay at the university in 1945.

He changed the Douglas DC3 as still the best available twin-engine plane for Canada.

He said that as far as he knew Canada planned to parallel the Australian operations across the Pacific when planes were available.

Italian Nobles Despair Of Return of Monarchy

By L. S. B. Shapiro
ROME, (NANA) — During the last several days there has been an exodus from Italy of a few noble families. And they are preparing to go. Their properties and estates are being liquidated and the government is either hindering or encouraging the process. The destination of many is Portugal, although some are going to Egypt and Switzerland, and a few to Argentina.

The reason for the exodus is that they have finally given up hope of the restoration of the monarchy in Italy. Until recently they had persisted in the belief that the referendum of last year would eventually be reversed and that Umberto would be recalled to his throne. But the result of the only election on April 20 convinced the more realistic that the monarchy in Italy is dead. And because their families have been close to the Italian throne for many generations, they have chosen to begin a new existence in lands more sympathetic to their aristocratic way of life.

Monarchy Dead
The vast majority of politicians in Italy agree with their diagnosis. The monarchy is indeed dead. It had been lightly interested since June 1946, and the thirty elections since have been a series of unimpressive comebacks over the grave.

Stately had been the last hope for a return to Italian rule of the House of Savoy. In the 1946 referendum, the Sicilians voted 66 percent in favor of the monarchy. A breakdown of the April 20 election result in that island shows that by even the most optimistic rearrangement of the figures, less than 40 percent of the voters still have Monarchist leanings. The more shrewd among Umberto's faithful took the hint. If they want to be close to the House of Savoy, they will have to go into exile with it.

There is more sentiment attached to the prompt exodus of these families. As long as Prime Minister Alcide de Gasperi maintains control of the government, there are few stumbling blocks to an orderly liquidation of their properties and a gradual withdrawal of their wealth to other countries. But they also know that de Gasperi's hold on the government is a tenuous one, and that he may be succeeded by a much stronger regime which would put into effect restrictions and seizures. Then it would be too late. De Gasperi is the last moderate influence in Italian public affairs. If he loses control he will be succeeded by ardent Socialists or by outright Communists.

Some Are Remaining
Some noble families are remaining for the time being, buoyed by the hopes represented by pro-monarchist newspapers, which form a powerful section of the Italian press. Realistic politicians, however, know that Umberto's only hope of returning lies in a tight-rope revolution in which the remaining Fascists and the neo-fascists might seize power and use Umberto as a facade of respectability. This prospect is small indeed. As long as central Europe remains in the shadow of a towering Russia, the best the right-wingers can hope for is a moderate Republican government. Only a cataclysm, such as a war between the United States and Russia, can change this trend.

In the 1946 referendum, the popular vote was 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 against the monarchy. Because the referendum was tied up with political questions, Royalists claim that at least 1,000,000 voters who were monarchist by desire but Socialist by political persuasion abstained from voting. This would have brought the vote to 11,000,000 each—a good basis from which to work for Umberto's return.

But the trend since then has been clearly anti-monarchist, and Sicily was the strongest that leads to permanent exile of the House of Savoy.

Umberto of Italy is in much the same position as Leopold of Belgium. The people who would not object to his return are out-shouted and out-organized by the people who are violently against him.

Moscow Gossip Rampant Successor to Stalin No. 1 Russian Poser

(Who will succeed Joseph Stalin? During a month in Moscow Ross Murov often asked that question. Here he sums up the answers) - E.D.T.F.C.

By Ross Murov
LONDON, May 14 (CP) - Who will succeed Joseph Stalin as the dominant personality in the Soviet Union when he dies?

THIS IS A question which the foreign diplomatic corps in Moscow discusses incessantly and which millions of Russians, who, although they have not the slightest influence in determining succession, are extremely interested in speculating who will be the next big man or men to direct their destiny.

Stalin, I believe, is still all-powerful in Russia. But he is getting old (67) and he is trying, he is probably planning now to delegate his immense powers and select the man or men who will carry on when he is gone.

I was in Moscow only a month but I talked to many about the succession. The man or men who will follow Stalin seem to be included in these six names, given alphabetically: A. A. Andreyev, Lavrenti Beria, N. A. Bulganin, Georgy Malenkov, Vyacheslav Molotov and Andrei Zhukov.

THEY ARE ALL members of the Politburo, the super-cabinet of Russia. After interviews with the best sources I could reach, I'd put my money on Bulganin, a comparatively new man in the top bracket of the Kremlin but who has come ahead and recently succeeded Stalin as first vice-president of the armed forces, which is approximately equivalent to the post of Canada's minister of national defence.

He is a long-time Communist, who shared in the revolution and in the 1930's was in charge of industrial commissariats. Then he went to the State Bank. During the war he held important defence posts and in 1944 went to Poland as Soviet representative to the Lublin committee. Later he handled political direction in the Red Army.

TWO OTHERS well-placed in the race for succession seem to be Beria and Malenkov. Beria, has been head of the NKVD, the Soviet Union's secret police. Malenkov is a strong Communist party man, who has been in charge of numerous industrial and transport developments. He and Beria are great friends and have worked closely together for years. This gives rise to a theory that the possible succession may be a two-man affair, in which police and party would work together in a committee headed by Malenkov and Beria.

Both Zhukov and Andreyev are still tremendously influential in Russia and close friends of Stalin and should not be overlooked, although many observers consider their chances fading.

MOLOTOV, of course is the man the western world knows best but his position in this question is strange. He is foreign minister and close to Stalin but his name is not mentioned as much as the others as a likely successor.

He seems to be one of the Kremlin's front men and a mouthpiece more than anything else. But he is a lot more influential than such a likely successor.

Freed By Soviets
NEW YORK, May 14 (CP) - The New York Times today in a Berlin dispatch said today that Brig. W. R. N. Hinde, British commandant in Berlin, was arrested last Sunday on a charge of spying on an airfield in the Russian zone but was eventually released after questioning. It was all a case of mistaken identity and a vigilant spy, the Times reported.

CNR To Start Big Montreal Project

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA, May 14 - Work is to commence immediately in Montreal on a combined project of the CNR hotel, general office building, and aviation building costing when complete about $17,000,000.

Flow Of Crude Struck At Well

CALGARY, May 14 (CP) - Henry Creek Petroleum No. 1 well drilled on the south edge of Bertha, Alta., to supply the town with gas, has announced a flow of very light crude oil along with a substantial gas flow, company officials confirmed here today. During a two-hour test over the weekend between 17 and 20 barrels of 60 to 62 gravity crude were collected. The well is bottomed at about 4,265 feet, near the top of the Devonian, but the flow is coming from the upper Madison at about 3,700 feet, it was said.

mouthpieces as Andrei Gromyko and Andrei Vishinskiy.

The latter two have no important influence in the decisions which make Russian policy but both are hard and earnest workers. Vishinskiy is probably the most diligent and ablest Soviet diplomat Moscow has. Neither he nor Gromyko are members of the Politburo or have the inside track in politics in Russia.

Russian generals are in the same class—mere agents and servants of the state with no political influence.

Try 31 Whites In Lynch Case

GREENVILLE, S.C., May 14 (AP)—South Carolina, where Negroes are not permitted to vote in the decisive Democratic primaries and where "White Supremacy" is sometimes a political campaign cry, began an unprecedented trial Tuesday of 31 white men charged with breaching a young Negro. An all-white mob jury was to hear the state's case against 30 taxi drivers and a third business man of Greenville, accused of the Feb. 27 new-laws abduction of 24-year-old Willie Earle from a Pickens County jail and his later slaying on a quiet country road. Earle was held on suspicion in connection with the slaying of T. W. Brown, local taxi driver, who was later died.

Oppose Monopoly Of Opp. Insurance

SENIORITY CLUB, Que., May 14 (CP)—Edwin C. McDonald, president of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association, said today private life insurance companies had no quarrel with federal or provincial competition but do quarrel with the idea that life insurance become a government monopoly.

Private insurance companies also raise the question as to whether or not it is fair to have "taxpayer" subsidies for the Dominion government's sale of annuities, he said and an address to the association's annual meeting in its second day. He said reference is sometimes made to great life insurance companies in Russia without the services of salesmen. But at the beginning of 1945 there were 34,000 full-time life insurance agents in Russia and there were to have one full-time agent in every five villages.

Canada's Greetings Cabled To The King

OTTAWA, May 14 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King, on behalf of the government, telegraphed the Royal Family "respectful greetings" together with an expression of "great pleasure" at the success of the Royal tour in South Africa. The telegram also noted that May 12 marked the 10th anniversary of the king's coronation. The King, replying, said the Royal family extended thanks for the "kind message" and concluded by recalling with "great pleasure" the Royal tour of Canada in 1939.

5-Day Week
For School
Employees

Starting immediately, a five-day week will go into effect for maintenance staff of the Edmonton public school board, it was announced by the board at a meeting in the City Hall Tuesday night.

IN A REPORT for the board's maintenance officer, it was stated that transportation to various schools for 120 children living in RCAF quarters at the airport, will be supplied by the Alberta government.

A four-room addition is planned for the new Glenora school, and the gymnasium at the school will be used as a classroom between September and June.

A tentative boundary between the Queen Alexandra and Glenora school zones is to be located at 56 avenue, it was decided by the board.

A LUNCH ROOM for men teachers will be made at Highlands school in the near future, and other buildings will include renovation of a new school in the Forest Heights district, work to start this fall or next spring.

A report by Dr. G. E. Swallow, medical inspector of schools, stated that during the month of April, 16 complete physical examinations were given.

The board decided Edmonton schools will close for the summer holidays June 27, re-opening Sept. 1.

Resignations were received from Dr. J. H. Young, principal of St. Luke, and Miss Mary Hots. Leave of absence was granted to S. B. Bird, physical training instructor. Also, Florence Masson, and Miss Grace Schmalzer.

THE FOLLOWING appointments were made:

J. S. Sandercock, principal of King Edward Park school; A. F. Hewson, vice-principal of H. Gray Intermediate school; M. K. Murray, classroom teacher at St. Andrew's High; S. Wilkie, at the staff of Eastwood and Westwood schools; and Mrs. J. H. Young, principal of the new elementary school, Mrs. Joyce Dunne, school stenographer.

Expect Big Turnout
For Church Parade

A large turnout of servicemen and veterans of World War I is expected to participate in the parade next Sunday afternoon on the Legislative Buildings grounds.

All Edmonton veterans organizations, including Canadian Legion, Canadian Corps, Army and Navy Veterans and ex-servicemen, will be represented.

In addition, regular service companies such as the Western Command and North West Army Command, RCAF, and city reserve units, will participate in the parade.

The service proper will be held at 9 a.m., with participating service organizations marching independently to the Legislative grounds.

After the service the troops will march through the grounds and north along 101 street where His Honor Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen and members of the Legislative Buildings staffs of the Administrative Building.

A. M. Adamson, president of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Corps Association, is chairman of the Empire Day parade committee and R. C. Arthur will be parade marshal.

595 Graduates Get Diplomas
During Convocation Exercises

Largest class ever to graduate from the University of Alberta received diplomas and degrees this afternoon in McDougall Church auditorium as hundreds of friends and relatives of graduating students gathered to witness the 3713 annual Convocation ceremony. Compared with last year's convocation, 595 diplomand and degrees were awarded to students.

CLIMAXING between three and five years of undergraduate studies, convocation was a major thrill in the lives of these young men and women, garbed in black robes and fastened on their boards of learning. Groups of veterans were present in the class of '47.

Maxed in Victoria in 1928-29, the convective, education, and other of the graduates, and science courses. No medical students graduated this year, as a result of the war-time accelerated medical course, last of which ended last fall.

Convocation ceremony began with the singing of O Canada. As the watching congregation stood in silence, the graduates were honored by their Alma Mater, the graduates of the University of Alberta, and the graduates of the University of Alberta, and the graduates of the University of Alberta.

The show opened Wednesday afternoon with the judging of the show and hunter classes and the display of intricate, to obtain a proper conception of life, to be applied to themselves, to give pleasure to life, but the success of a man in life was not to be measured alone by his ability to give pleasure to himself.

C. G. PURVIS, KC. DONALD G. MASSON

Successor Appointed
Prosecutor Quits Post

The resignation of C. G. Purvis, K.C., as crown prosecutor at city police court and the appointment of Donald G. Masson as his successor was announced Wednesday by the attorney general's department.

Mr. Purvis, who took over the post in 1936 after 30 years as a barrister in Victoria, has resigned due to the pressure of his private practice. Mr. Purvis said he will now devote his time to criminal work in the firm of Purvis, Johnson and McKenna.

Mr. Masson has held the post since November of last year and has done most of the prosecuting in city court during those months. Prior to his position with the city court, Mr. Masson served four years with the RCAF and for a year and a half was district solicitor for the department of veterans affairs.

Nothing is settled as yet concerning the proposed building. Mr. Purvis said, but it is decided to build the only way to be "substantial".

W. F. Kemp, manager of the British-American Paint Co. Ltd., here was conferring with Mr. Purvis about the proposed new building.

Although the company is purchasing practically all the materials for the building, the quantity is still far short of meeting requirements, he said.

Another veteran Edmontonian railroad was honored Tuesday night when D. M. McKenna, bridge and building department master, was guest of Canadian National Railway officials and fellow-employees at a banquet coinciding with his retirement from service.

S. P. Jackson presented Mr. McKenna with a handsome car radio on behalf of the CNR employees and officers.

Mr. McKenna was born in Masson, Ont. in 1893 and came to Edmonton in 1927, where he has been up until his recent retirement.

Approximately 100 attended the farewell banquet in the Macdonald hotel.
